

I don't wanna waste my time

She's got blood running through her veins
She's got fingers clutching at the reins
But when her powers of reason analyse her aims
It seems like a waste of time

He's got egg all over his face
There's a lot of mud flying around this place
Battling with temptation, he's trying to win the race
But it seems like a waste of time

*But they give a big boost to it
You're supposed to get used to it
And they tell you that there is no other way
Well, all I wanna say is
I don't wanna waste my time*

Once she had a flame rising ever higher
Now it's just an ember dying in the fire
Every single feeling, every desire
Just seems like a waste of time

When he became a man they told him, "Get ahead.
Give a good performance in business and in bed!"
But now those empty words echo around his head
And they seem like a waste of time

*But they give a big boost to it
You're supposed to get used to it
And they tell you that there is no other way
Well, all I wanna say is
I don't wanna waste my time*

That's no way to live. There is an alternative
I'm a refugee and I'm looking for adoption
There's got to be a better way. Tell me, tell me – what do you say?
There's got to be more than this and I'm checking out the option

*But they give a big boost to it
You're supposed to get used to it
And they tell you that there is no other way
Well, all I wanna say is
I don't wanna waste my time.*
